1. ATTENDANCE

- Students not availing school transport should reach school before the first bell.
- Students, once in school, shall not be permitted to leave before school is over. Exceptions will only be made during emergency situations.
- A minimum of 75% attendance is a must. Every student should understand that collective learning happens in a school. This purpose is lost if she/he remains absent without reason. Not only does it become difficult for the faculty to keep pace of the class, any loss of the student in terms of academics, sports or cultural activities, by being frequently absent, reflects in his/her overall performance. Any loss of the student in terms of academics, sports or cultural activities, by being frequently absent, reflects in his/her overall performance. Any leave would only be permitted with an accompanying note from the parents/guardian.
- Attending national and festive celebrations at schools is mandatory and absence inexcusable. Attendance in night camps, picnics, field trips and applied adventure campus is mandatory, School is mandatory and absence inexcusable. Attendance in night camps, picnic, field trips and applied adventure camps is mandatory, school goes out of the way in organizing these events in an endeavor to ensure that each child is exposed to a gamut of extracurricular events and activities the rates of which are cross-subsidized in an effort to ensure a large outreach. Non-attendance of any student will definitely not mean non-payment of charges.
- Mass bunking is a strict violation of school decorum. It is a moral responsibility of each parent to ensure they take every measure to disassociate their ward from such mob mentality at this tender age and make every endeavor to see that their ward does not become part of it.
